

Seal

Seals have a thick layer of fat under their skin, called blubber.

Seals eat shellfish, birds and fish.

Seals can sleep under the water!

A baby seal is called a pup.

